Abstract:
Old age is an indispensable stage of life of a human being which a man cannot refute except untimely death. The childhood and old age are natural reliant conditions of life where children depend on parents and parents depend on children. The concept of nuclear family affected this usual cycle resulting in misbalance of the normal life of elderly people by defeating thousand years old practice of India where parents are treated as a pious form of God. Nowadays, the parents are becoming burdensome for their child whenever they lost their strength to work and earn. Available legal, social, moral and governmental norms are analyzed in this article to find out the possible ways by which elderly people’s human right are infringed and they bound to suffer pain and agony. The article also reflects the available laws, policies and guidelines for protection of the rights of old age person in India.

Introduction
Ageing is a universal phenomenon. It brings about certain anatomical, physiological, psychological change in life. It is also one of the most important demographic and epidemiological transitions caused by enormous improvement in public health, medical treatment, socio-economic factors such as education, income, better nutrition’s and living condition as well as technological advancement. The population of aged increasing day by day but we take it as challenge for futurity policy making and administrative purpose. Aged problems are not physical in nature it may be social and psychotically disease. But today aged are neglected in family because of generational gap between young and age’s. The aged are behavior like traditionalized. The young’s are modern. The majority of the tribes depend on land and forest to make a living. Their social life is also interwoven around the land they live on. They have thus a physical and emotional attachment and dependence on land and forest. In this context, launch of Van Bandhu Kalyan Yojana, Single Window System for Obtaining Market Information on Minor Forest Produces, Setting up of 184 Eklavya Model Residential Schools, Preparation of Tribal Map of India and Launch of MFPNET Portal of TRIFED were some of the important Initiatives for Tribal welfare during the year 2014. It is the nodal Ministry for the overall policy, planning and coordination of programmes for the development of the Scheduled Tribes (STs). The programmes and schemes of the Ministry are intended to support and supplement, through financial assistance, the efforts of other Central Ministries, the State Governments and voluntary organizations, and to fill critical gaps taking into account the needs of ST. 2011 census of India demonstrated that aged people in India have crossed over 104 million and most of the Indian parents expect their children to look after in their old age, but due to many reasons like globalization, modernization, industrialization and decline in ethical values elder persons are admitted to old age home in large number. To protect the rights and interests of senior citizens national and international agencies have passed many legislations like- “UN Principles of Ageing” was passed in 1982, to promote rights of senior citizens. Indian government has passed The Hindu Adoption and Maintenance Act 1956, Criminal Procedure Code 1973 (section 125) under these acts parents can claim for maintenance from their children. The National Policy on Older Persons (NPOP) was announced in January 1999. The International Day for Older Persons (IDOP) is being observed on 1st October every year since 2005. The Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act 2007. The Division has been implementing a Central Sector Scheme, "Integrated Programme for Older Persons" (IPOP) since 1992 the objective of improving the quality of life of senior citizens by providing basic amenities like shelter, food, medical care and entertainment opportunities etc.

Meaning of tribes:

Tribes' means a unique culture, language, common name and common ancestor etc, and they are known as Adivasis, Girijan, Hill tribes, Vanavasis. A social division of people especially a preliterate people defined in terms of common descent, territory, culture, including some defined by unilateral descent, some defined by ethnic origin. Cultural anthropologist now usually apply the term to a unit of social organization i.e., culturally homogeneous and consist of multiple kinship group such as family lineage or clan that prohibited marriage with themselves but endorse or require marriage with person of the other kinship group.

Definition of tribes:

- S. C. Dube : Tribe is “an ethnic category, defined by real or putative descent and characterized by a corporate identity and a wide range of commonly shared traits of culture”.
- J. L. Gillin and J. A. Gillin : “A tribe is a group of local communities which lives in a common area, speaks a common dialect and follows a common culture”.

What is scheduled tribes?

The term “Scheduled tribes” is a politico-legal term. It was introduction by the British for their administrative convenience. It was first coined by the “Simon Commission” (1928) and was used by the then “Government of India Act 1935”. When India became independent this term was adopted by the constitution for the purpose giving special facilities and the constitutional guarantees for the tribes. The Constitution has ‘listed’ or ‘scheduled’ a few of the tribal communities and these listed tribes are referred to as scheduled tribes.

Methodology of the Study: The Study is based on secondary data. This paper is the initial Part of my Ph.D thesis entitled “Health Status of Elderly Scheduled Tribes: A Sociological Study”

5. The focus of the new policy:
   1) Mainstream senior citizens, especially older women, and bring their concerns into the national development debate with priority to implement mechanisms already set by governments and supported by civil society and senior citizens” associations. Support promotion and establishment of senior citizens” associations, especially amongst women.
   2. Promote the concept of „Ageing in Place“ or ageing in own home, housing, income security and homecare services, old age pension and access to healthcare insurance schemes and other programmes and services to facilitate and sustain dignity in old age. The thrust of the policy would be preventive rather than cure.
   2) The policy will consider institutional care as the last resort. It recognises that care of senior citizens has to remain vested in the family which would partner the community, government and the private sector.
   3) Being a signatory to the Madrid Plan of Action and Barrier Free Framework it will work towards an inclusive, barrier-free and age-friendly society.
   4) Recognize that senior citizens are a valuable resource for the country and create an environment that provides them with equal opportunities, protects their rights and enables their full participation in society. Towards achievement of this directive, the policy visualizes that the states will extend their support for senior citizens living below the poverty line in urban and rural areas and ensure their social security, healthcare, shelter and welfare. It will protect them from abuse and exploitation so that the quality of their lives improves.
   5) Long term savings instruments and credit activities will be promoted to reach both rural and urban areas. It will be necessary for the contributors to feel assured that the payments at the end of the stipulated period are attractive enough to take care of the likely erosion in purchasing power.
   6) Employment in income generating activities after superannuation will be encouraged.
   7) Support and assist organizations that provide counseling, career guidance and training services.
   8) States will be advised to implement the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act, 2007 and set up Tribunals so that elderly parents unable to maintain themselves are not abandoned and neglected.
9) States will set up homes with assisted living facilities for abandoned senior citizens in every district of the country and there will be adequate budgetary support

Conclusion:

We can conclude by saying that the problem of the elderly must be addressed to urgently and with utmost care. There is urgent need to amend the Constitution for the special provision to protection of aged person and bring it in the periphery of fundamental right. When the degeneration of joint family system, dislocation of familiar bonds and loss respect for the aged person, the family in modern times should not be thought to be a secure place for them. Thus, it should be the Constitutional duty of the State to make an Act for the welfare and extra protection of the senior citizen including palliative care.
